It is a joy to listen to the animals and to share the experience and the beautiful messages they give with you, dear readers!

Their unconditional love, unbeatable capacity to forgive, and their wisdom, are unequalled. Their hearts are wide open; there is no room for injustice, greed or revenge.

They are an example for us, an example that we have to follow some day, in order to move forward on our spiritual path, because life like it is at the moment cannot continue. Our human way to look down upon other occupants of this planet, in the name of our selfish benefit, is far from unconditional love and respect; it is much closer to greediness and thoughtlessness.

The moment, when your heart opens wide up, to accept and feel unconditional love, is up to you. Nothing in life is written in stone, and if you are ready to change from the inside out, the whole world changes... If you need help, ask for it. The help will be there, maybe in a way that you do not have a clue about yet, but you will surely notice, when the help is there. Dolphin named Betty offered her help to Maiccu and she gave her own message to the mankind in the process.

And Leyla speaks up about the year 2012!

Betty's message is a long one, so we have moved shark and whale to the next issue of The Power of Silent Wisdom (11). So, the next issue will be published quite soon, and we will continue this excursion in the world of water.

Leyla's legacy: 2012

My love, the time has come to say: how do you do, to all of you, after a very, very, long pause. So: how do you do? I am so happy to be able to finally give this important message about 2012, in my own peculiar, horselike way. Frankly, I have waited with this message for quite a while. For once, I have had to use all of my horse patience. Luckily, I have some say in Maiccu's life and she can put her ordinary chores aside and concentrate to get this message from me!

First I have to say, that I am very happy that my messages have already reached so many people with our book. I am glad that my words have touched so many and some of you have already changed their attitude towards their life and things in it. You do know who you are.

I have traveled around Finland, and a little bit around the world, with Maiccu, and it has been great fun. We have many things going on, Maiccu and me. I get to deliver messages via Maiccu and in many situations I offer my help, when the time is appropriate. I have done many things and the best part of it is, of course, that I can move without any restrictions from time or place; I am even able to be in many places at the same time. I have helped those who are in need of help and also those who have not even been aware that they need help. So I have been busy, but I have the energy; I am made of energy.

(Laughter.)

But now I wish to talk about these important times, so that the whole magazine is not filled with my ramblings. I have just waited so much for these moments to chat with you, so is it any wonder that I am so eager to talk with you.

In this time (Maiccu definitely knows it too) the changes are reality and they can also be very wild and enormous. So, if you have already begun to seek for your own passions in your own life, and you can feel that you are moving to the right direction, you are going to move much, much faster. If you haven't found your passion or your purpose, the changes that take place can feel quite uncomfortable. What is happening now is that you people are really going to be put to think about the true meaning of things.

You are going to lose your jobs and many other earthly things. It is so, because, first of all, you are being given time to think about your life, what you expect from it and what you want from it. Many of you have never thought about this or even wanted to think about such things. These people are the ones who do not read this magazine either. Naturally, and you know who these people are, you all have people like this in your life. These people are going to face hard times. And it is no wonder that some people call these times "the end of the world". They have no idea what is happening and what they should do. Everything is upside down, all that is familiar, vanishes into the thin air. This is why 2012 is so feared and so much talked about.

Leyla

Naturally, nothing bad is going to happen, and there is nothing to fear. The world does not come to an end; life is only changing, completely. But it will change inside your hearts, on a spiritual level. What is true in your heart is starting to shine and it gets more powerful, and everything that you do from the bottom of your heart, will succeed. All the things that involve "have to" or any anxiety will fall and vanish, because it all becomes impossible.

All the curtains will fall, with this I mean all the scenes humans have built. Everything that is not true, where there is a tiny little bit of cheating or pursuing of wrong things, will fall eventually.

This year many, big, big scenes will fall; we know it and you are going to see it. You are being revealed things that you never could have dreamed in your wildest dreams.

The power of money will come to an end, positions will fall, and the new leaders will be those, who lead with heart. People do not bow in front of so called false leaders. Greediness will be buried in a horse poo (Leyla laughs out loud) and the authorities will change. All this stuff about life on other planes will be public to those who are willing to hear about it.

Knowledge will come to the light, as you can say, and it will be available to all. Because of financial and greedy motives, you have been kept in the dark for thousands of years, the truth has been hidden. You have been able to see crumbs of knowledge and you have investigated things, you have walked your spiritual paths, what is how you call your journey. All these things will be revealed to you as well.

Wannabe gurus and people who give false oaths will fall. Healing, financial wellness, beautiful life, will be able to everyone; to all those, who wish to have them. There is still a lot of fear and anxiety out there, because the old world is tumbling down, these people, who stay and dwell in self pity, greediness and pain and fear, will leave the earth plane eventually.

From my point of view, the biggest things that will happen are those concerning nature. Everything will change; your ears will be opened to hear the singing of birds again, if you can say so. Those, who do not open their ears, will be shut down forever, metaphorically speaking.

What I am saying here is: if your heart is open, you will never experience lack, none of it. If you give, you shall get, and this is how it goes with all things in life, not just money.

2012 will win the battle over never-ending war between good and evil, amen. I might be a bit serious now, but maybe you have also been given a chance to wear a smile on your face.

Everybody is safe, also the greedy ones, or the evil people who do cruel things. I have said that only love can heal, and without loving the abuser as much as the abused, nothing will ever change.

This year, the wave of love will sweep all over and through the earth, it is so bright and powerful, that only those who are in the state of pure love will survive. Others will vanish out of sight, they are ashamed, live their miserable lives, get sick and so on.

However, so that nothing remains unclear: they are being loved just as much and this love is meant for them, just as it is meant for everybody. They make their own choices and they have the right to do so. All of us do not believe in the power of love, and never will do so.

I hope that you appreciate everyone, even the smallest; fill your heart with light and love. Do not speak evil about others, not to mention yourselves. You need to love yourselves now more than ever before, because it will help you with this change.

Appreciate those who work among sick or old people, and those who work unselfishly for the weak, animals and nature. You will notice everything around you. Then you forget all about this message, and some time, after a few years, you come back to it, and then you will understand what I meant.

To those of you, who choose love in your life, the road will be much easier to walk.

I also tell you, just to avoid all the misunderstandings; this is not about the fight between good and evil, it is about the end of this particular fight, ending with the fact that all just is.

There are nothing but right choices and right decisions, to live in love or fear, greediness or to

To those of you, who choose love in your life, the road will be much easier to walk.

Leyla

share the abundance of life with others. This sentence is an answer to Maiccu's question considering the reason why you people are on earth in the first place. She keeps on nagging about this, and she still hasn't been able to find the answer herself, so here it is.

Frankly speaking, it is not very farfetched idea to say that you are in a high school down on earth. Some of you learn some of you do not; you come and go, again and again. The goal is that you do not need to come down here anymore. This is far too difficult subject to get into it any deeper, and I do not even have the permission to talk about it.

All I say is that also my messages will be much more profound this year, 2012, and they will help you in a more concrete way while you ponder your future and make your choices.

Those of you, who, for example, understand how close to you nature and animals are, are very close to one kind of truth. We also are like test in front of you, on your path, and... ah, I have to stop, because otherwise I will talk too much.

There is also a dolphin speaking to you in this magazine. The shark and whale will deliver their messages in the next issue (11), if I get Maiccu to sit down and write. They will tell you some facts, so that you can fall off your chairs.

They are even closer to the core of the truth than I am.

I love each and every one of you.

Dolphin named Betty-Bob

Betty-Bob, Hawaii

Maiccu: First of all, this is the first time ever, when I hear the animal talking fluent English in my head. I have no idea, why it is so, but I think it's because I met Betty on Hawaii a few weeks back. I am not quite able to explain what happened during our meeting, but I was enchanted, and I could hardly stop crying. Betty was swimming right under our catamaran, on her side, staring us straight into the eye.

Firstly, this encounter was very touching for me, and secondly, I believe that something happened during this trip, something that I have tried to explain to myself ever since. In a way I understand that Betty is going to give me an explanation in this message, about all the things I have pondered during these few weeks. When we met Betty, she had two companions with her, before this she had always been seen alone, which is rare among dolphins.

A few words about Betty (taken from the Internet):

'Betty is a bottlenose dolphin we've seen frequenting our coastline since the summer of 2011. First named 'Betty' as we thought she was female due to her inflamed genital slit, we later found she was actually a male with some type of perhaps fungal infection (without taking samples). The condition appears to make him very itchy (and possibly underweight) and he regularly approaches boat to rub against their hulls (he does not seem to be seeking human interaction - but is specifically interested in the boat hull). The dolphin is now known as 'Bernard' or 'Bernie', but Betty may stick as he has gone through the summer with that name.

Betty is usually seen on the periphery of the spotted dolphins commonly found near the 500 fathom depth. It is uncommon to see solitary bottlenose dolphins - ones not within a larger social pod of the same species. Solitary bottlenose are usually either unhealthy or socially unfit. Betty did spend at least a few hours with a bottlenose pod traveling near our coastline in Oct., and seemed to assimilate in just fine - which is not uncommon. We have not only seen him with the spotted, but recently with false killer whales. Check our Facebook or Wildiaries page to see Bernie's latest escapades.

http://sailhawaii.com/bottlenose\_dolphin.html

Maiccu: The very first words that I hear: "I am here on purpose, I am here on purpose!" It seems a bit difficult to translate all this stuff from English to Finnish, and then Lea translates it all back to English once again... Well, there is first time for everything, and everything has meaning attached to it. I let Betty talk now and I write everything down straight away. Betty has been eager to speak all morning, she has been very patient, waiting for her turn to speak up so here is Betty and her message.

Betty speaks:

"Dear people, near and far, I am here for a great purpose. I came, I stayed and I have waited for this moment. This all is going to touch your hearts and minds even more, after you have heard what I have to share with you.

First of all, I came here the way I am; scarred, injured and a bit sick and alone. I came here this way, because otherwise I would have been just one in the crowd. The messengers of God are often ragged and underdogs among you people as well, and you do know it. If I was exactly the same than others, you would never learn to recognize me. My mission is a bit lonely at times, but I am not lonely at all. Do not feel sorrow for me, and especially not pity for me; that would be so very pointless.

I am happy in what I do, and I have a good life as it is. I am being loved, I bring the love of whole earth in my heart and this is why I am here. I came a long way here, because of it, just because it was meant to be, I am going to spend the rest of my life here, unless I am needed somewhere else. In this place my only mission is to love, this is how simple it is.

I travelled thousands of kilometers and this journey was not easy. I was protected, and I am still protected. With my journey I wish to show you that the journey can be tough, a lot of bad things can happen. You are forced to fight for your life, you might get sick. You might lose all your friends and your family, but when you keep on walking ahead, trusting that love is all around you, in your heart, you are always in the right place, heading to the right direction. This is the way I knew I was going to the right direction, to a place where I also can be loved. To a place where I can find peace and live without fear that somebody is going to eat me or that somebody hurts me, just for the fun of it. I didn't know where I was going on my journey; I only knew it the moment I had arrived.

Do you, human, ever reach your destination? Yes, but it requires that you find pure love from your heart and trust the direction it gives you and you keep on walking, without getting tired, without stopping, even if it took forever. You will know when you have arrived; there will be a day, when you are filled with peace! Peace that is also love. You recognize the place, because you have no hurry left in you anymore, you are able to breath, all the anxiety is gone, all the insecurity has left you.

Also I shall bring you protection on your journeys. I meet the people that I am supposed to meet, everyone who comes to this place, comes here for a great purpose. We are in a holy place, and even if your heart is not quite open yet, to receive all the love there is, it will be opened right here. Miracles happen in this place and now that you are ready to understand what all this is about, those miracles will be activated for you to use them. The same goes for all those who read this message. You will be opened to a new world, where everything is possible.

Maiccu is able to realize now what happened to her and I will explain that to you also. There are people, who are being given a chance to reach permanent peace on an express highway. They have been given a task in this time, during this important year. This is why she was brought to me; this is the reason why so many people come straight to this place where I will meet them. At this very moment they know that everything has changed. They return back to their own homes, all over the world, and the universe begins to work through them.

Maiccu has wondered lately why she feels something what she has never felt before: infinite peace and love. This is important; those of you, who have open heart, will experience the same feeling, you have a mission. The missions of these people, who are making the world a better place, are not easy, and when they feel like they were caught up in the eye of a hurricane and step forward to spread the message of animals, about love and peace, the most important thing is, that they themselves are able to carry deep peace and love within themselves. Nobody is able to do this work, if the feelings they feel inside multiply in every person they meet!

Anyone, who expresses the will to accept permanent peace in their heart, is able to do it, anytime, anywhere! Not a special place or time is required, but that is the way it is, there are places on your earth where these things happen more naturally. These places have a lot less pollution, the air and water is clean. These places are silent and the only sounds you can hear and the sounds of nature. All the places with lot of animals, and especially whales, dolphins and so on, in the oceans, are places like this. Where we swim and live, there is a lot of peace and pure energy.

All the wrongdoings and lies will be revealed. All the things that you do from the bottom of your heart will succeed.
Betty the Dolphin

Not all the people are meant to travel thousands of kilometers to reach a state like this. Those, who are meant to make the journey, they will be given a chance to make it and somehow they just find themselves in all these places, even without realizing what is going on, or why they are traveling in the first place.

The missions and paths of people are always different, some live in an industrial world while some live in the country side, the tasks and jobs are different, but they all are equally important. The common denominator combining all these people is the message; they all have the same message. They might meet each other and notice that their way to view the world is the same. They might not even understand that they are messengers with the same message, but this is not even important.

Leyla told you all the main things this year holds. All the wrongdoings and lies will be revealed. All the things that you do from the bottom of your heart will succeed. All the struggle will come to an end, things are really taking a new turn and the earth is changing energetically in a very dramatic way.

All of you are not able to make it through, but everything is happening for the sake of love, and only for love, and because we need to find new ways to get closer with each other and to live in harmony, without anxiety and fear, without diseases and huge amounts of pills.

Before you love the fisherman as much as you love the catch, nothing in this world ever changes.
Betty the Dolphin

People will return to nature. Those who try to fight it will be immersed with love and this is something you have seen all over the world already. Nature will return to people in many different ways and there is nothing people can do about it. I will make this clear once more: those of you, who already are in the nature, you have nothing to fear. This is something you can ponder inside your heart and you will get all the explanations, what you did not get straight away from this message.

You are being loved so very, very much!

If you open the door of your heart and accept, even a little bit, of the love, your whole world will change. It is never too late, never.

I will say the same to you what Leyla and Buddha the cow (PSW 7) said to you, with my very own words. Before you love the fisherman as much as you love the catch, nothing in this world ever changes. We love you already, now you love all those, who disgust you the most. This is the only way we can make the change happen, together!

I thank you for this opportunity to tell you about things in my own way. I have to laugh with the fact that person must sit in the sky, for dozens of hours, to meet a dolphin, who lives in the sea, just to get this message to all of you, people!

My name is Betty-Bob and I love this name, it is like yin and yang, everything in a perfect balance, you know?"

Maiccu: While I wrote the message, I got many different mental images, for example from Betty's journey. It seems that she has been shot at one time. She's been chased at and all that sort of things. However, she has been determined to go where she is going, and sure enough, she has had great protection on her journey!

Betty knows exactly what people are talking about her and how much she touches people who see her. Nothing is the same in the lives of those, who meet her. Love that she channels is tangible and something that is difficult to describe with words.

It has been a great honor to be among the people who get to meet her and experience this shift. Something really happened during that trip. I have thought about it for a few weeks. All the stress is gone, all the fears about how we are going to make it, because I left my day job, are also gone. I can only feel great peace and balance and I am forever grateful for that and I will always return to that magical place, where I met Betty.

I know that whales play a part in this too, but this is something we will see in the next issue of PSW (11). Thank you, dear Betty, for this message.

I've been in front of computer for several hours and I think now is a good moment to go outside, straight into the snow, to see if the nature is in me, or if I am in the nature!

Thank you, thank you, thank you!

Meet Robin Skov

Robin & Holy, Gentle Barn

Our guest in issue 10 is reiki healer Robin Skov from Los Angeles. She tells something about herself with her own words and then she answers a few questions.

Who's Robin?

Robin is a Reiki Master/Teacher specializing in senior animals, farm animals and animals rescued from abuse. She is a member of the Shelter Animal Reiki Association and the Shibumi International Reiki Association. She has studied extensively with Kathleen Prasad of Animal Reiki

Source as well as with Frans Stiene of International House of Reiki.

Through her organization, Angelpaws Animal Reiki, she donates a portion of her time to animals living in shelters and sanctuaries. She also supports several non-profit animal protection organizations by donating her fees through her pay-it-forward donation program. Animals have been her teachers, friends and companions for as long as she can remember. Sharing Reiki with the animals allows her to give back some of the beauty, joy, and healing they have brought to her life.

How did you find the world of energy healing?

I first came to learn about the world of energy healing in 1999 when my husky, Kelsey, was diagnosed with kidney disease and given only 6 months to live. I couldn't understand why there wasn't anything that could be done for him with "western" veterinary medicine. After much searching, I found a holistic vet who started him on a protocol of herbs and flower essences. Though an interesting series of "coincidences", this eventually led me to discover Reiki. Soon I had taken the Level 1 and Level 2 training and began using the energy regularly with my dog.

Kelsey responded very well to the new treatments and lived almost 5 years after his initial diagnosis, passing away just a couple of months before his 15th birthday. I didn't do much with Reiki after that until I met Kathleen Prasad the founder of Animal Reiki Source. She was very involved with shelter animals, something that had always been close to my heart. Through her organization SARA (Shelter Animal Reiki Association), I began using Reiki with rescued farm animals and from that experience I knew that I had at last found my niche with Reiki and animals.

Why did you choose to practice reiki (mainly) on animals, instead of humans?

Reiki is such a beautiful energy – it's our life energy, our life force – it feels very natural to share that space with the animals who are so close to the energies that the system of Reiki represent.

Emotional traumas can make animals - just like humans - numb and unable to express any feelings at all. What is your opinion about energy healing practiced on animals who are severely abused and depressed?

I have found that Reiki can break through the emotional and physical barriers of animals who have experienced severe trauma in a way that perhaps other hands-on modalities may not be able to. With Reiki, the practitioner creates a space for the energy and then invites the animal to participate at whatever level they are most comfortable with.

The practitioner isn't trying to get physically close to the animal or trying to touch them, and because of this, there is less of a fear response on the animal's part and they can simply relax and receive what they want from the session instead of what I want them to receive. The choice is theirs – they can accept as much of the energy or as little as they would like - or none at all if they don't want to. This is very empowering for an animal who may have had someone else's will imposed on them for their entire lives.

Do you find the energy body of an abused animal different from the energy body of an animal who has lived happy and balanced life?

The animals I have worked with who have experienced abuse or trauma often have a heavier feeling about them than those who have not had those experiences. Often there is a great amount of fear or anger or frustration. When the animal is able to release that, there is often an overwhelming feeling of joy and peace, which is truly an amazing thing to experience.

Sometimes reiki healers become very intuitive over the years. Have you ever gotten any messages from animals?

I don't get a lot of messages from the animals I've worked with. I primarily try to focus on just being the energy of Reiki during a session and not as much on communicating with the animals. I do occasionally get impressions of overwhelming grief or sadness and sometimes there is a beautiful feeling of gratitude from the animal for the love and care that their person or rescuer has shown them. If an animal is about to cross over, I will sometimes get a short message for their person.

Zoe, Gentle Barn

Do animals sense your "reiki vibes", do they come closer to you, just to get their share of your healing energies?

Yes! One of my favorite stories involves just that. I had been working with the animals who live in the upper barnyard at the Gentle Barn for quite some time. There are all kinds of different animals who live there – pigs, chickens, turkeys, llamas, an emu, goats, sheep, and for awhile there were even 2 young calves living there. One of the goats, Zoe, wasn't known to be incredibly friendly, although she did have her favorites among the volunteers. I wasn't one of the favorites and she generally gave me a wide berth when I was there.

One day, I sat down with one of the older goats and started sharing Reiki with her, inviting any of the other animals to share in the space if they would like. About half way into the session, I could sense a presence to my far right and took a quick peek to see who it was and there was Zoe! As soon as she caught me looking at her, she walked off. I then went over to work with the turkeys and felt Zoe's presence again shortly after I had begun their Reiki session. This time she stayed for almost the entire time and had a sleepy, relaxed expression at the end. I then went to another part of the barnyard and worked with the sheep – this time Zoe joined in from the beginning and stayed all the way through to the end of the session. As I was getting ready to leave for the evening, I spotted Zoe on the other side of the yard. She made a bee-line for me, stopped a few feet away, and bowed her head. I let her know how grateful I was to have shared Reiki with her that day, and we parted ways. She passed away not too many months after that.

*Robin Skov
March 13th, 2012*

Thanks Robin! (It was nice to hear something from Gentle Barn as well, where Maiccu visited in January 2012. We have talked with several animals from Gentle Barn in our previous issues.)

5

This year is a big cornerstone in the spiritual evolution of humanity. It leads us to love and love will be the prevailing force in the future. (It is already, but we might just not be aware of it.)

You can always learn to love.

After all, we have managed to teach hate to our children, so often we have given the legacy of hate to our children along with the mother's milk. However, generation after generation the attitudes are changing, racing with the energetic changes that take place on earth.

With love and compassion we can make this planet a home that looks like us. We are powerful, multi-dimensional beings of light and the change comes from the inside out.

Look in the mirror, and remember to look your own reflection with love, too.

Yeah, it might sound silly alright.... but you are love. Give this year a chance to show how big you, love, are.

It hurts barely at all. :o)

Thank you, Maiccu, Robin, Leyla and Betty-Bob.

*Waiting for the next issue,
Lea Pihlman*
